News

Welcome to the second edition of the Wee Waa . Com Newsletter.

Well what a year it has been already for the Wee Waa website. We have had a huge amount of hits since winning the NSW Rural Industries Research and Development Corporations (RIRDC) Rural Women of the Year Award. This can only mean promotion for our town and district. We have been getting 1,000 hits per week with more to come when I attend the National Dinner in Canberra on 23 May. I will give it my best shot and see what I can come back with.

Of course I have not been able to spend as much time on the site as I would like, but please bare with me in my journey to Canberra and the other speaking engagements that I have. New photos are to go up and I have had enquiries from a number of businesses in town for adds. With your support the community groups can have their pages for free so when you advertise on the site you are helping all

Websites for You

Due to the success of Wee Waa's website and the publicity it has received over the past 18 months, I have been able to form an alliance with Ruth Quigley from Trangie. I work as the marketer and Ruth as the developer. Both of us having a rural background and an understanding of how the drought has affected rural towns over the past 5 years. We are now able to put together very reasonable packages for those interested in having their own website on the world wide web.

There are three to choose from as follows:

The Ligante Package - (the package used for the Wee Waa website) which the community groups and not just one. You may have noticed an add on NBN promoting our town this was an initiative from two Wee Waa Businesses who I applaud for taking a step forward to promote our town. They are looking for other businesses who would like to also promote themselves on the TV ad so if you are interested please contact Robbie Barclay or James Durrant.

If you are involved with a community group please remind them to send me updated information about their group and remind them that there is a free page on the website for them.

The site now has a links section positions vacant and a real estate section these have all had a good number of hits and I feel enhance the site. If you would like to contribute to these sections or any other section on the website please let me know. As with all advertising on the site there is a small and reasonable fee that is very competitive to print media.

I would also like to encourage you to is an online package - the content for which can be sourced from any location, and which is updated by you. This packages allows you to grow your site as your business grows.

Web Editor Package - Set up for you allowing you to edit the content of those pages as you desire or need to via your web browser Website Update Service - Where the site is all done for you and you supply the material for updates which is done by us.

All package pricing is quoted subject to discussions with the client.

If you would like to know more about join the local Chamber of Commerce and attend their meetings third Wednesday of the month as it is a place where we can all work together to improve the town. The beautification of the street has certainly lifted the town spirit and I am proud to say I come from Wee Waa where ever I go. We are a great community and have some wonderful spirit and we have the ability to nurture this spirit for the benefit of the whole community. See you at the next meeting in April.

The Wee Waa Show is coming up and is the largest event in the Calendar for the Year. Unfortunately I will be unable to attend due to my commitments in Canberra but would like to wish the committee good luck and hope that the businesses of Wee Waa support their great efforts.

There are some interesting statistics on the reverse of the Newsletter for your information perhaps you can share it with the rest of the community.

Cheers
